

Wellness Committee

A group of persons elected or appointed to investigate, report on, or act upon a particular matter concerning the health and wellness of an organization. This may include review of the health insurance plan(s), wellness benefits, preventive services, organizational policies (such as tobacco free workplace) and to advise the wellness champion/coordinator on the implementation of any programming. Committee members often act as internal champions.